

There are three examples I am working on as concepts for the cover of the Trees of Maine Identification Cards. The cover must have the MTF logo and have some element, like leaf cutouts, of features from the trees. I think the cover on the right is the best to build off of.

The image to the left is an incomplete back side of an ID card for the Red Maple. It has a brief description of the features of the tree, such as mature and immature seeds. Over the next week, I will work to fully complete my 3 working cards so the final design can be approved before creating a full set.
